New facility planned at local center Details still to come

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A 400,000 square-foot warehouse and trucking facility is being planned for the Gateway Commerce Center. Although the details have not been finalized, the facility would be the second major project — both warehouse/distribution centers — in the development.

The first project — the $24 million, 800,000 square-foot Dial Corp. warehouse — opened for business in April. The new building project is a joint venture between TriStar Business Communities, Korte Construction and an as-yet unnamed occupant and is "50 percent real," according to TriStar spokesman Jim Grandone.

Durbin addresses Clinton impeachment at SIUE

By Sanford J. Schmidt
Staff writer

The state's senior senator predicted President Clinton will continue to be an effective leader after the U.S. Senate declines to remove him from office. "That is the single most important question I have been asking myself," Sen. Dick Durbin, D-Springfield, said Monday.

Durbin spoke at a class in American government at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

He said he has noted that Clinton recently managed to get through a budget resolution that allowed the government to continue functioning without a shutdown. On the foreign front, the president seems to have the respect of the world leaders.

"Most of the foreign leaders we've talked to are thoroughly confused over what we are doing," he said. "They want to know why we are impeaching our president."

Durbin said the legal aspects of Clinton's Senate trial appear to be over. The rest of the proceedings will be politically motivated, he said.

He said he does not think a vote on a finding of fact makes any sense other than as a political cover. Such a vote has no basis in law, he said.

He said calling witnesses at this point would be political hypocrisy, since no new information is likely to come out.

"If they wanted to call witnesses, why didn't they do that in the House during the impeachment proceedings?" Durbin asked.

Responding to questions from the class, Durbin touched on a wide variety of points involving the president's trial and other issues.

On the subject of campaign finance reform, Durbin said the chances of a bill passing are hurt by the fact that the party in power is usually the main beneficiary of the existing system; therefore, it is slow to change a system that has brought it political spoils.

He said history will judge harshly of independent prosecutor Kenneth Starr. He said Starr has used ruthless tactics in his quest for a case against Clinton at any cost. "He has tried every trick in the book," Durbin said.

Durbin said the growing budget surplus should be spent to shore up the troubled Social Security program and for education.

Man killed in Pontoon accident

Potter: SIUE still going through formation GMU official first chancellor candidate to make visit; two more still to come

By Sanford J. Schmidt
Staff writer

The first candidate for the SIUE chancellor post to visit campus said Monday he was attracted here by the relative newness of the university.

"This university is still forming itself," said David L. Potter, vice president for executive affairs at George Mason University in Fairfax, Va.

Southern Illinois University Edwardsville is 42 years old. Potter said the university is still growing and building, and the development may allow the school to better adapt to rapid change of the technological age.

Potter spoke on campus at an open forum for faculty, staff and members of the public. In a question-answer

"This university is still forming itself...It (an academic restructuring at George Mason University, where he currently is vice president for executive affairs) was a process that engaged the people whose lives were affected by it."

David L. Potter
SIUE chancellor candidate

period, Potter said he prefers making decisions with the input of the people affected.

At a recent academic restructuring at George Mason, each department was asked to study itself before a decision was made on reducing acaademic offerings.

"It was a process that engaged the people whose lives were affected by it," Potter said.

Potter said he is concerned about adapting the higher education process to the increasingly rapid change in society. While at George Mason, he helped establish a New Century College, in which students were given a multidisciplinary course, taught by teams of professors. The emphasis was on exploring how various areas of learning are related, Potter said.

Potter is among three finalists for the chancellor job. The list was narrowed from 45 applicants. A committee in December conducted interviews with eight candidates and narrowed the list to the current three.

Mary Kathryn Tetreault, interim dean and development associate for the college of education at California State University-Northridge, and Paul L. Gaston, provost and executive vice president of Northern Kentucky University, will visit campus this week and next.

OPINION

It's nice to be known as 'The Greatest'

But is it really so, or just a nostalgia kick?

How nice it is to be told that you're a member of "The Greatest Generation!" That's especially so when it's a generation on its way out. But I'm finding myself, as one of that group, more perplexed than flattered.

Carol Clarkin

I haven't read Tom Brokaw's best-selling book yet, the one that proclaims us the "greatest," and I certainly intend to do so soon. However, there are several things I find puzzling, and not just about his categorizing us as such. I trust he's talking about strictly American "generations," and that his is not just another of the many to me to be a flood of listings of the "greatest."

Statesmen, athletes, movies, books, you name it. It appears to me that not a week goes by without some pollsters wanting public votes on the "greatest" of something or somebody. Does the approaching end of the millennium inspire all these listings, or is everybody on some sort of nostalgia kick? I suspect both play a part. Even industry is getting into the act. Just within recent weeks, I learned that Ford was seriously considering a return to the old Thunderbird.

A spokesman was quoted as saying that such a retro design would make "an emotional connection" with the buying public. "Warm memories of the past will sell such Thunderbirds," he explained.

If that ain't nostalgia, then I'm missing something. Maybe a Thunderbird. And if we really want to feel warm and fuzzy, how about a new version of the Model T? Dishwashers? What was wrong with the plain old kitchen sink? And when it comes to plumbing, forget that whirlpool tub! Let's hear it for the simple old cast-iron, enameled oval with claw feet!

As a part of the "greatest" classification, I'll readily admit to areas of personal nostalgia. I continue to think of Wrigley Field as one of the gems of American architecture and damn near had a fit when they installed lighting for night games. I'd give almost anything for a return to "swing" bands, and dancing, and rich, fattening milkshakes, with a dollop of honest-to-God whipped cream, like the ones my friends and I slurped down at Merrigan's and Winstead's.

But lose today's creature comforts? I don't think so. Sure, it would be nice to know when the phone rings that the person calling is most probably a friend or family member and not a faceless unknown, interrupting your evening meal to offer you a new credit card or long-distance service.

On the other hand, I, for one, would be most reluctant to return to the small oscillating electric fan on a hot and humid Midwestern summer night when I can flip a switch for air conditioning.

As a matter of fact, those of us in the "greatest" category can remember when we first became acquainted with air conditioning. It was at the local movie houses, which we filled to the last seat in the balcony on those not-a-breath-stirring nights, hopefully to watch a double feature plus cartoon, newsreel, previews, and if we were lucky, a bank night, before being forced to exit and start sweating from the top of our heads down.

Distance, of course, does indeed lend enchantment, especially, I think, to those who have never been there, but personally, I tend to agree with whoever said that nostalgia is a longing to go back to the good old days, when you were neither good nor old.

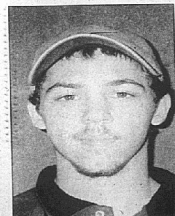

Additional thoughts upcoming next week on the "greatest" generation. In a more serious vein.

VOICE BOX

Do you have a special person that you share Valentine's Day with? If so, what do you do for them?

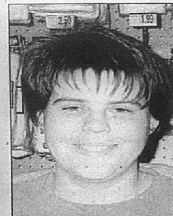

"I do have someone special, and I would like to take her out to eat, give her roses and a teddy bear and also go to the movies. I don't have all the money to do all that, so I will tell her that I love her."

Mike Bryant, 17 Student

"I don't have anyone special. If I did, though, I would give her roses and treat her to a nice dinner and let her know how much I care about her."

James Ratsy, 17 Student

"I am fortunate to have three special valentines, my husband and my two children. We will do something special as a family. Then my husband and I hope to have some quiet time and catch a good movie."

Donna Chilton, 32 Graphic designer

"I'll get up extra early and prepare breakfast, get a gift and a card. All the usual stuff."

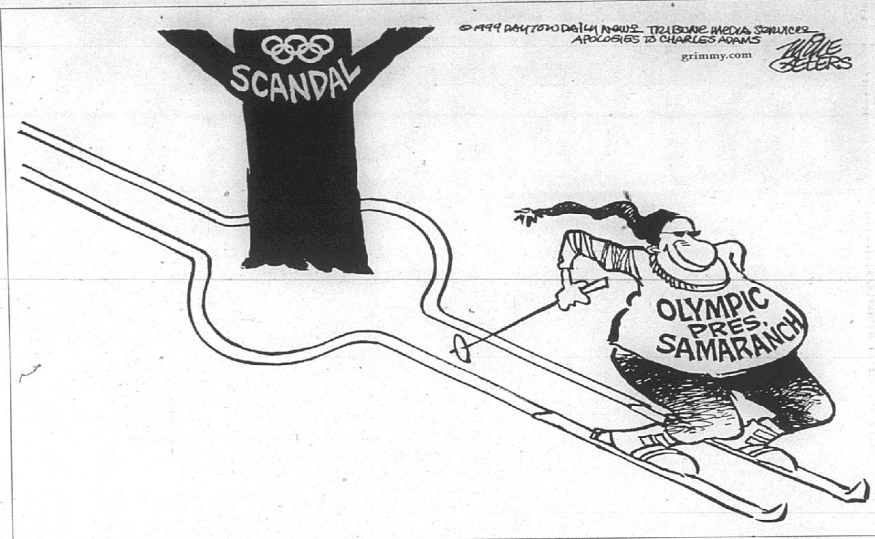

Tiesha Hooks, 11 Student

"I don't have a personal valentine, but I love my puppy. My puppy is my valentine. I'm going to get him a little bear and give him hugs."

Roads crumble while officials fiddle

A few years back, the folks who run the Illinois Department of Transportation decided to use an experimental asphalt mixture on Chicago's Dan Ryan Expressway.

Bad idea. Very bad. I can understand maybe using an experimental paving surface on a short stretch of the Ryan, one of the world's busiest highways. That way, if the new stuff didn't work right, the resulting problem could be easily fixed.

Ah, but that's not how they saw things over at IDOT. Instead of trusting the new asphalt on a quarter-mile stretch, they paved the whole darned road with the stuff.

The nasty spell of weather we had during the first half of January, with its snow, ice and low temperatures, turned the entire expressway into the approximate equivalent of the surface of the moon.

There were more potholes than roads.

To his credit, George Ryan (the governor, not the road) kept his cool (at least publicly) and jumped into action. Gov. Ryan ordered the top of the asphalt scraped off to even out the road's surface somewhat. Then he moved up the expressway's scheduled repaving by a full year.

But that crisis wasn't the last infrastructure problem the new governor will face. According to IDOT, about three-fourths of our interstates are at least 21 years old, even though they were built to last only 20 years.

IDOT claims the state needs to replace or repair almost 750 bridges. The state has a 2,400-mile repair backlog, and federal highways will need to be fixed within the next five years. And this doesn't take into account the thousands of miles of municipal, county and township roads that are falling apart.

I know a township road commissioner down in Southern Illinois who is consumed with despair whenever he talks about the sorry state of the infrastructure under his care. It's kind of creepy.

"Rich," he'll say with a slow dramatic wave of his arm, "we've let this go on way too long. Everything's going to fall apart one day. Everywhere."

There's no doubt that government bureaucrats exaggerate problems when they're pushing for a tax increase. But shave off the fudge, and things are still pretty bad.

Then there's the regional pressures for more and better transportation systems. Sen. President Pete Philip wants to spend well over $1 billion on various west suburban road projects, including a new north-south expressway.

And don't forget the proposed third regional airport near Peotone. The new roads leading into that place will cost about $1 billion, not including the cash spent building the actual airport.

Chicagoans woke up during the recent blizzard to discover that their mass transit system needs a complete overhaul.

Here's where the real bad news comes in: IDOT has just about run out of money that it can use to borrow even more money to pay for even more work. Most of the cash from the last tax increase, in 1989, is being used to pay off the mountain of debt the state took on when it started its last round of big projects. The state's Road Fund is basically broke.

Because regular tax increases are a necessary part of the system, everyone is Springfield has known for the past five years that some sort of large cash infusion would be needed.

Yes, campers, this is another government crisis created when the people in charge waited until the last minute.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Thank you for your holiday help

To The Editor:

An open letter to the citizens of the Tri-City area:

Thank you!

Your response to our annual "Toys for Joy" Christmas toy giveaway was a resounding success. As has become the trait of our community, you have risen to the occasion and surpassed all expectations.

Because of your generosity, we are able to give out 3,500 toys! That is beyond what we expected. You deserve all the credit due to you.

While the recipients of these gifts can not thank you personally, I will tell you that whatever thank you that I express to you pales in comparison to the feelings of joy and happiness that the people that you helped expressed to me. We are already planning for next year's "Toys for Joy" giveaway, and with your continued support, we are sure that it will be bigger and better than ever.

Happy New Year! May 1999 be your best and most prosperous year ever.

Grandparents and their grandchildren enjoy lunch Tuesday at Holy Family School in Granite City as part of Catholic Schools Week. The event gives grandparents a chance to see what their grandchildren are doing and to give both sides an opportunity to spend quality time together.

•Warehouse

"It will be a state-of-the-art bulk warehouse and trucking terminal and will do third-party warehousing," Grandone said.

He added that a formal announcement would be made when arrangements on financing are completed.

The building will be located near the Dial warehouse west of Illinois 111. Other specifics about the project were unavailable.

Gateway Commerce Center is the largest business park development in the Metro-East area and has been touted as a perfect site for distribution and warehouse facilities.

Jim Pennkamp, executive director of Leadership Council Southwestern Illinois, said recently that the development potential at Gateway Commerce Center — as well as other sites throughout the Metro-East area — is a result of a calculated effort to improve the region's infrastructure, especially its transportation network.

"Everybody has worked on this for so long, believing it would stimulate a lot of job creation and private investment, and that is, in fact, what is going on," he said. In a related matter, construction has started on infrastructure for Gateway 270 Commercial Park, a 91-acre business park located within Gateway Commerce Center northeast of Interstate 270.

As presented to the Pontoon Beach Village Board for plat approval, the development would have up to 23 lots and include a looping road connecting to Chain of Rocks Road.

The development also anticipates the relocation of the Illinois 111 and Chain of Rocks Road intersection. The new intersection would be to the north.

Organization forming new Madison County chapter

By Val McDowell
Staff writer

The new Madison County Chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving is on a mission.

Cyndi Brown, secretary/treasurer, said she is excited about upcoming events.

"We're always looking for volunteers and new members, and we've got plenty of work for people to do if they want to work with us," she said.

One project in full swing is a driver's education presentation that gives students a chance to duplicate drunk-driving conditions using specialized goggles.

Mary Biekert, chapter president, said the two-day presentation is called "Fatal Visions."

"The first day we have students put on 'fatal vision' goggles," she said. "This reproduces the visual effect of having a blood alcohol level of .15 percent. Then we put them in the driver's seat and let them ride around."

The chapter currently has two sets of goggles, which cost $250 each. Biekert said the lesson is powerful, yet fun.

"Students really get a kick out of doing this, but then, when they get out and see that they've knocked down a cone, or ran up a curb, it comes home to them in a very vivid way," she said.

On the second day, students view a graphic film prepared by the Missouri State Highway Patrol. Biekert warned that this film is not for young children.

Attention-grabbing scenes of victims their own age cause many teens to take note. A few have even cried at the end of the film.

Biekert said the chapter has run the program at a few schools, including Belleville Township High School East, where it was received positively.

"What we'd like to do is present it to every high school in the county before prom time," she said. "If we can reach these students while still young, a lot of these fatalities can be prevented."

The chapter works with an Illinois State Police trooper, who answers questions and demonstrates the arrest and testing procedure during a drunken-driving incident.

Another project in development is the creation of victim impact panels.

Impact panels consist of victims' families that testify in court cases. It puts the accused person in a position where he or she is forced to listen to a description of what their actions have cost the victims.

"This is something that we're still going to grow and expand considerably in the upcoming year," Brown said.

Cowan finds a role for SIUE Cougars

Derek Cowan is the perfect example of being in the right place at the right time. Cowan was part of Edwardsville High School's boys basketball team a season ago. But it appeared his playing days were over when he played at home to attend school at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville.

"I had some junior college and (NCAA) Division III offers out of high school," Cowan said, "but I thought going to a juco wouldn't help me academically and the Division III schools were just too expensive. So, I thought I'd go to SIU for a year or two and then transfer to Illinois or Illinois State."

Those were the plans. That is, until his high school coach, Mike Waldo, convinced him to try out for SIUE's team. The 6-foot-5 forward-guard was one of four walk-ons to make SIUE's squad from a group of 24 players.

However, unlike most walk-ons, Cowan was able to become more than just a practice player, more than a player used in mop-up situations. "I've been coaching college basketball for 24 years now," SIUE basketball coach Jack Margenthaler said, "and he (Cowan) is only the second walk-on player who has played a lot for me."

Through SIUE's first 19 games, Cowan has seen action in all of the games. He was playing about eight to nine minutes a game early in the season, but has worked his way into a starting role in the last three games. He's now up to 25 to 30 minutes per game for the Cougars, who are 8-11 overall and 7-8 in the Great Lakes Valley Conference.

"What you see in practice is what you get in a game from Derek Cowan," Margenthaler said. "He plays hard. He has character and is sincere about the game. He has the ability to know and understand the game. He's an excellent shooter. In fact, I wish he'd shoot the ball more."

At times, Cowan has shined on the court. He had 16 points, hitting 5 of 11 shots from the field, in a loss to Quincy. He made 6 of 9 shots and had 14 points, seven rebounds and four steals in a victory against St. Joseph's. In the Cougars' last outing, a triumph against Wisconsin-Parkside, Cowan had what he thought was his best game of the season, as he had 11 points, five rebounds and five assists.

Cowan has averaged 18.1 minutes per game — sixth-best on the team. He has averaged 4.2 points and 3.1 rebounds per game. He is shooting 47.5 percent from the field and 66.0 percent from the free-throw line. He also has 14 steals.

In the classroom, Cowan has a 3.5 grade-point average (on a 4.0 scale). He ranked in the top eight percent of his class at Edwardsville High.

"Things are going a lot better than expected," Cowan said. "I'm having a lot of fun with it."

Margenthaler is having fun watching Cowan perform. He has enjoyed watching Cowan work through the walk-on process to become a full-time contributor to the team.

"Most walk-ons are told they'll play very little if at all," Margenthaler said. "However, we do treat them like scholarship players. If they outperform scholarship players, they will play."

The door opened for Cowan to play when three of SIUE's recruits didn't wind up on the team. One of the players dropped out of school after three weeks. The other two players, both juco players, couldn't make the grades academically.

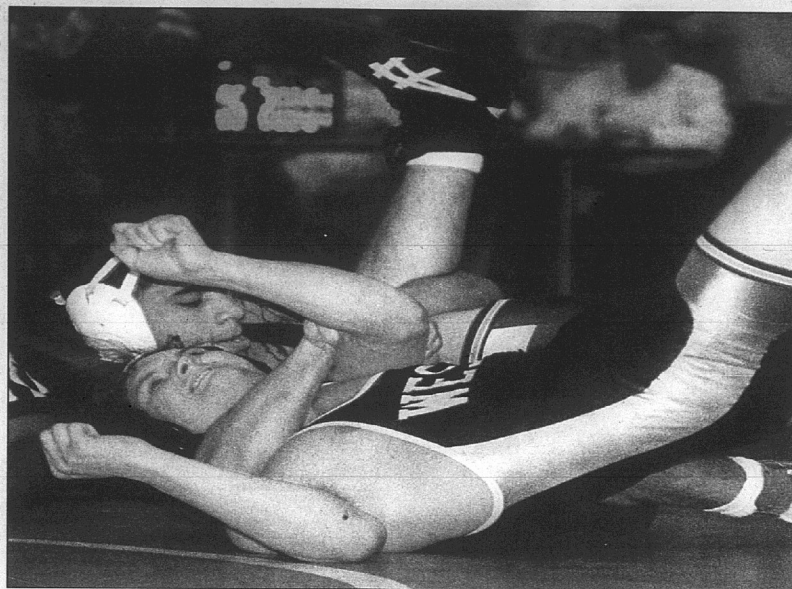

Two of the three would have started for sure," Margenthaler said. "The other one also could have started. If all three of those players had been with us, it's likely that Derek wouldn't have been such a big part of the team, or a part of the team at all."

So, it was into this setting that Cowan walked. From a walk-on to a starter.

And what's in store for Cowan for next season?

"We evaluate all of the players at the end of the season," Margenthaler said. "Will he get a scholarship next season? It just depends on how the recruiting goes."

Warriors drop a dual meet

Granite City senior 152-pounder Brooks Narvaez was impressive in last weekend's quad meet, beating the state's No. 2 ranked Sean Neutzman of Providence.

Granite City bows to 1998 state champion

On Saturday, for the first time in more than five years, the Granite City wrestling team lost a regular season dual meet.

Some mitigating circumstances:

First, the Warriors' 40-18 loss was against defending IHSAA Class AA champ New Lenox-Providence.

Second, the Warriors are not interested in regular-season streaks. They want a state championship, and they want it bad.

"The purpose is to find out how good we really are, whether we are contenders or pretenders," Granite City coach Mike Garland said. "I think we have a good enough team to place at state, but do we have a good enough team to win at state? Right now I'd have to say no, not the way we wrestled."

"I thought we wrestled well, but we didn't wrestle well enough to win. We didn't wrestle well enough to beat Providence, the state champs. But I would love another opportunity, because the more you wrestle somebody, the more you get used to wrestling them, the more you get used to their techniques and their style."

Paul Johnson was one of the Warriors who fell to New Lenox-Providence's 125-pounder Sean Neutzman, but Garland has faith in Johnson's abilities.

"He got beat, he gave up a lot of Warriors sweep Edwardsville in finale

Granite City had one test left in the regular season and passed it with flying colors.

The Granite City boys bowling team beat Edwardsville 25-11 and the Warriors girls followed suit, taming the Tigers 33½-2½.

Edwardsville was the one team the Warriors hadn't beaten this season.

"This was a really big win for us, to show that we can beat them before we go into the conference tournament," Granite City coach Bill Puhse said. "We were really pumped up, really ready for them. The guys knew that this was the one team we had to beat to show the other teams we were for real and maybe set the stage for an upset in the tournament."

Granite City girls team reach .500 mark; boys now have beaten every SWC team

Travis Papp bombed the Tigers with a 720 series and victories in all three games for the Granite City boys team. Gary Brooks bounced back after losing the first game of his match to average 220 in the last two games and finish with a 624 series.

Paul Richter had a 601 series and Calvin Powell added a 557.

Travis really came through for us," Puhse said. "It seems like Travis is really thriving on pressure and the idea of beating the only team we hadn't beaten was a big goal. It allowed him to focus on his game. He really responds under pressure and that's a good sign for our anchor man to be like that."

Kristin Stovall was the high scorer for the Granite City girls with a 491.

Melissa White rolled a 441 and Francie Davis teamed with Julia Murphy to score a 436 series. Jane Signall finished with a 394.

"Kristin is really coming along," Puhse said. "I don't think she had ever bowled in a league before this season. She has become a real stable factor on our team to allow us to win matches."

The girls really wanted to finish the season with a 6-6 record and that match was the difference between a losing season and a .500 season. It was great to see them come through under the pressure and do what they know they had to do to win."

The Granite City girls travel to Decatur this weekend for the sectional tournament, which determines who qualifies for the IHSAA state tournament.

The Warriors boys are gearing for the SWC Tournament Feb. 13-14.

"We are going to go back to basics and focus on a few little things," Puhse said. "We are working on picking up spares we haven't been getting to pick our score up. We want to get mentally prepared for state (a non-sanctioned event) on Feb. 20 and 21. We are looking ahead to both tournaments and what we have to do to win."

"Up until now, we have been able to get by bowling two of three good games and missing the match. Now we have to concentrate on putting together solid game after solid game and put up some really good series and totals to do well in the conference tournament and at state. I think we are really at a good point with the boys team, but there are some things that we can work on and we are focusing on that right now."

Suhre remains a positive force for Warriors

Granite City junior Ty Suhre leads the Warriors into the Mid-States playoffs with a first-round matchup against Chaminade.

Granite City junior has taken over leadership role for Mid-States team

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Granite City junior Ty Suhre has his swing down pat.

After playing for the Granite City High golf team in the autumn, Suhre turned his attention to the rink at Wilson Park for the Granite City Warriors of the Mid-States Club Hockey Association.

"I told Ty in the beginning of the season that we would look for him to be very productive this year, and fortunately he was," Granite City coach Dave Yurkovich said. "He was our leading goal-scorer and leading point-getter. Ty is a great leader and he goes out and works hard every day. He has a lot of confidence in what he does. He doesn't let things get to him and bring him down. He's always positive, that's the thing about Ty."

That trait plays into one of Suhre's roles on the team.

"I think my main responsibility is to keep the team up," Suhre said. "Next year, I am going to have to pick it up, pick my play up and pick my leadership up, too, because we are losing six seniors. This year, I'm just trying to keep everybody's hopes up and score some goals."

Suhre's leadership is buoyed by an unselfish style of play, which not only nets goals for other players but also accelerates the development of the young players on the ice with him.

"He is such a team player, he would just as soon like to see you get the goal as him, it doesn't matter," Yurkovich said. "He is just a great leader on the team. He's the kind of leader any coach would like to have on his team. I'm fortunate that he's a junior and I'll have him again next year as well."

Suhre's skills aren't limited to the offensive third of the ice. Besides making conscientious efforts to cover defensively, Suhre plays on both special teams.

"He is on the ice an awful lot," Yurkovich said. "He kills a lot of penalties yet he's always on the power play, so he's playing probably (on ice) 35 out of 45 minutes per game. You will see him utilized in all situations, special teams as well as even strength."

Suhre seems to relish being on the ice in special situations.

"If you get a penalty against you, you just have to keep cool and get the puck out," Suhre said. "It's really important to play position and not let them score."

"On the power play, you have to set up, get in the corner and control the puck, work it behind the net. You just have to keep cool and not force anything that isn't there."

Suhre played varsity last year as a sophomore and learned a great deal.

"I played on a line with Bobby Pritchard and he helped me out a lot," Suhre said. "I was on a line with him all year. I was just a sophomore and he was a senior. He got me all my goals last year and he worked for me. I was hoping that I could do the same for Ryan Burns this year."

Fiala garners coaching award

Neil Fiala, head coach of Belleville Area College's baseball team, is the recipient of the 1998 Louisville Slugger Award for Excellence in Coaching. The award was presented recently by the baseball manufacturer for Fiala's regional championship season.

Last season the team finished with a 48-12-2 record and was ranked as high as eighth in the country by the National Junior College Athletic Association. Since assuming his position in 1994, Fiala has led his team to four consecutive sectional championships (1995-98) and three consecutive conference championships (1996-98). He also has been in the regional finals three consecutive years (1996-98), winning two of the last three championships (1996 and 1998).

Suhre's game got a further boost with the addition of Greg Pritchard, Bobby's cousin, midway through this season. After experimenting with a few different combinations, Yurkovich has settled on a line of Suhre, Pritchard and speedy sophomore Danny Fergusson.

In the second period of a game against Hazelwood (Mo.) Central, the two combined on three goals from touch passes

Suhre said—of Pritchard. "I play on his Steelers team, too. His dad is the coach and he paired us up on a line together and we've been working pretty well there and here. It's kind of like he knows where I'm at and I know where he's at at all times. He's a big hitter, he's always running guys. He creates space for the rest of us. He's a big plus. He added a lot to this team."

"Hopefully we can get out of the first round," Suhre said. "They always pair you up with a better team. With Kirkwood (Mo.) last year we came out and played a great game. We still lost, but it was our best game of the year by far. I'm hoping we can duplicate that this year."

"We are going to look to Ty to be a positive force for us," Yurkovich said. "In a short series you need guys to be big

"Nathan continually worked on all of the techniques you showed him," McChristian said. "He was concerned about his footwork. He was concerned about his form in blocking with an arched back and good hips. He had great technique on his pass rush."

Last year, when Nathanael was on defense he could take on a double team and stalemate it. This year, he could take on a double team and destroy it. He could take on two guys and blow right into the backfield. His best game was East St. Louis, the last game (in the playoffs). I watched him put blocks on guys his size or bigger and just destroy them. That was the kind of player Nathanael was."

Illinois and Iowa are members of the Driver's License Compact, which is an agreement among various jurisdictions to report traffic offenses to the driver's home state. Thus if an Illinois resident is arrested for a moving violation in another state and is convicted on this charge, this conviction will be reported back to his home state if both states are members of the Driver's License Compact. Each state under the Compact also recognizes the acts of other

The Appellate Court in this case affirmed the decision of the trial court dismissing the case against the defendant. The Court felt that Iowa's decision to license the driver whose driver's license was revoked in Illinois ended the Illinois revocation. The Appellate Court felt that Illinois had a commitment to recognize the actions of a member state under the Driver's License Compact.

York turned it up for senior campaign

The lineman lifted a large weight off his own shoulders Wednesday at Collinsville High with the stroke of a pen.

On the first day of the signing period for football, York signed a national letter of intent to attend school and play at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston.

York, a 6-foot-3, 270-pound offensive guard and defensive tackle for the Kahoks, had received some letters from many NCAA Division I schools. But many of the big-name schools began backing away due to York's size — or lack of it.

In the weight room, York has bench-pressed more than 430 pounds, can squat lift close to 600 and has lifted more than 300 pounds in the clean-and-jerk.

York earned a number of honors for his senior season. He was named all-state on the offensive line by the Illinois High School Football Coaches Association, first-team all-Southwestern Conference and will play this summer in the state's Class 5A all-star game.

WEDDINGS

Susan Ketchum and Jim Chomko

Ketchum-Chomko

Susan Ketchum and James Chomko Jr. were married on Saturday, June 27, 1998, at Covenant Presbyterian Church in Racine, Wis., with the Rev. William Smutz and the Rev. Donald Wolford officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Kathryn and Bob Berkley of Racine, Wis., and Don Ketchum of Coon Valley, Wis. She is a 1993 graduate of Idaho State University in Pocatello, Idaho, and is completing her master's degree in adult fitness and cardiac rehabilitation at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. She is also assistant volleyball coach at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

The groom is the son of Jim and Marsha Chomko of Granite City and is a 1990 graduate of the University of Wisconsin-Parkside Business School. He works as an application developer for Rockwell Automotive, Allen-Bradley Division, in Milwaukee.

Kari Adams of Racine, Wis., sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Teri Harkins of San Clemente, Calif., Tricia Hanson of Racine, Wis., Melanie Huff of Grayslake, Ill., and Lenisa Totero of New Orleans, all friends of the bride.

Carl Chomko of Kenosha, Wis., brother of the groom, and Stan Anderson of Racine, Wis., served as the best men. Groomsmen were Kevin Smith of McHenry, Ill., Scott Blasson of Maryland Heights, Mo., and Chris Kahan of Granite City, all friends of the groom.

Others in the wedding party were Amanda Berkley, sister of the bride, as the Junior Bridesmaid; and Annie Berkley, sister of the bride, and Ashleigh Wonsil of Grayslake, Ill., a friend of the groom, as the flower girls. The ushers were Jon Adams, brother-in-law of the bride, and Dan Lyons of Madison, Wis., friend of the groom. Lectors were Nicki McGrath of Brookfield, Wis., Tracy Patton of Toronto, both friends of the bride, and Amy Wonsil of Grayslake, Ill., a friend of the groom.

A string quintet composed of Tim Berkley, brother of the bride, Brian Peck, Jennie Olson, Jennifer Olson, Crystal Borchert, and a vocal soloist, Nola Ratliff, accompanied by pianist Matt Meyer, provided music for the wedding.

Following dinner, reception at Roma Italian Lodge in Racine, Wis., the couple honeymooned in Jamaica and now reside in Racine, Wis.

Saints Alive holds meeting; women's retreat held

The Madison County Baptist Association group Saints Alive met on Jan. 25 at Grace Baptist Church.

Dr. Elwyn Wilkerson welcomed all the guests and thanked the church for hosting the meeting. Recent birthdays and anniversaries were held for new officers. Rev. Les Atkins sang several beautiful songs.

Announcements were made by Rev. Sherman Smith, and Ron Joyce was the guest speaker.

The next meeting will be at 10:30 a.m. April 5 at Pleasant Ridge Baptist Church in Collinsville, with a potluck at noon.

"Transformed" was the theme of the women's retreat at Lake Salateeska on Friday, Jan. 22, and Saturday, Jan. 23. Music, fellowship, crafts, drama and the book study was Meetings are held the third Tuesday of each month.

Pontoon Baptist Church celebrated Baptist Men's Day with a special service Jan. 24. The men organized and ran the entire service. The welcome and announcements and morning prayer were given by Gus Heller. Pastor Alan Reafer played piano solos, including the call to worship and offertory hymn and accompanied congregational songs.

Robert Shipley introduced Missionary Moments and gave prayer for the missionaries. Paul A. Stayduhar gave the children's sermon.

Michael Dunnivant was chosen as Baptist Man of the Year for 1998 and presented a plaque from the church. The Men's Choir did a special song, "Victory in Jesus." Members of the choir were those already mentioned and John Keener, Robert Ciybrun, Ed Thomas, Dennis Lybarger, Paul Stayduhar, C.O. Wells, Ken Fuller, Ben Frost, Daniel McBride and Harold McBride.

A wonderful message about God's influence in the life of a man and his walk as a husband and father was given by Clint Potter. A soup and dessert followed the fellowship — and the men made the soup.

Jerry and Marsha Kirkpatrick and Sarah and Steven and Josh Brown have returned from Rockwood, Ill., where they attended a memorial service in honor of a sister of Marsha.

The Bywater family reunion was held Jan. 10 at Nelson Hagnauer Town Hall in Granite City.

An opening prayer was provided by Rev. Ron Burlock. Dinner was served to more than 65 family members and friends.

Prizes were awarded to the oldest Bywater attending,

Mickey Bywater; the youngest Bywater, Brendan Bywater; the Bywater with the most family members in attendance, Jo Marie Bywater; and the Bywater who traveled the furthest distance to attend, Julie Courtois.

BOARD OF FIRE AND POLICE COMMISSIONERS

Granite City, IL

Lunch will be served. Reservations must be made by Feb. 15.

A rummage through and bake sale will be held in the meeting room of Central Christian Church on Feb. 27.

A Walk Through the Bible seminar will be held in the Granite City Ministerial Alliance, will be held on Feb. 27 at Nidringhaus United Methodist Church. All churches are invited to participate in this. More information can be obtained at Nidringhaus Methodist.

Cares and concerns were discussed by members relating to the information about church family members.

Lena Seitzer led the study and worship. The Bible study was from the book of Esther, entitled "Do We Have What It Takes?" Indonesia is the social study this year.

The meeting was closed with the CWF benediction.

Seniors Unlimited

Seniors Unlimited of Nidringhaus United Methodist Church met in Wesley Hall of the church. The meeting opened with Jean Hileman giving a devotion entitled "Joys in the Lord." Jean then offered prayer before a lunch of potato soup, apple dumplings and apple pie.

After the lunch, Del Grothuis announced that the next meeting would be Feb. 24. Refreshments then would be pizzaburgers, chips, carrot sticks and dessert would be cherry pie. The group will face a hymn sing that day. Georgina McMillan also announced that the group would be taking a trip to Branson, Mo., March 17 to 19.

The program today was a movie of Victor Borge, courtesy of Warren Collins. There were 78 in attendance.

Young at Heart

The Young at Heart senior citizens organization of Holy Family Catholic Church, due to the ice and snow in December, held their Christmas dinner on Jan. 18 at the church community center.

President Cleola Siebert welcomed members and guests. Prayers were offered by the Rev. Bill Fisherkeller. Rev. Fisherkeller presented Cleola Siebert with a special senior award for all of the good works she has done for the church.

A buffet dinner was served by Petri's Catering service to 66 members and guests. Several priests and sisters were guests and were recognized for their contributions to the different parishes.

There's more than meets the eye when putting on a play, whether it be on Broadway or the high school stage; just ask anyone involved in Granite City High School's recent winter play, "The Foreigner," which was performed to enthusiastic audiences at the GCHS Auditorium. Clockwise from top left, Jacob Kamphoefner hangs some scenery in preparation for a scene; Nealie Ingram, left, and Amy Pennell, two of the cast members, engage in conversation from a scene in the play; director Bev Scroggins puts the cast through their paces; cast member Justin Meagher looks at his lines; and, from left, David Elliff, Katie Serrano and Ryan Moenster arrange some props. Plays are performed at the Auditorium several times each school year, including the traditional Homecoming play.

Bridge will open for eagle watching

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A Native American storyteller and eagle handlers from the Wild Bird Sanctuary will be at the Old Chain of Rocks Bridge this weekend.

But if things go as planned, they will play second fiddle to the real attraction — American bald eagles wintering in the area.

The event is the annual eagle viewing at the bridge.

"Usually around the bridge there are a lot of bald eagles," said Muriel Webb, membership and media manager for Trailnet Inc., which is overseeing the rehabilitation of the bridge. "This gives people a chance to see the birds in natural habitat."

Eagles use the open water below man-made dams as feeding grounds when the Mississippi River freezes over.

The cost for viewing from the bridge is $5 per adult and $10 for family of four. Children 12 and under are free. Parking is available at the North Riverfront Park on the Missouri side, and shuttle buses will be on hand.

Spotting scopes will be available.

The bridge will be open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

At last year's eagle watch, only one eagle showed up. Because of warmer temperatures, the river didn't ice up much, giving the birds a wider area to feed in.

Webb said numerous eagles have been sighted near the bridge in the past few weeks this year.

But in case eagles don't show up, several bald eagles from the World Bird Sanctuary will be at the bridge, along with handlers who will be able to talk about the eagles and their habits.

The bird handlers will give talks every half-hour or so, alternating with a Native American storyteller.

The bridge is now undergoing a $3.4 million renovation as a pedestrian/bicycle trail.

"We're finishing up phase one, which is the curbing and fencing. We'll probably start on phase two when the weather lets us," she said. A June opening is planned.

'Italian American Reconciliation' comes to SIUE

Comedy-drama opens Feb. 19

John Patrick Shanley's "Italian American Reconciliation," an irreverent comedy-drama about the irrationality of love, begins a five-performance run at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Feb. 19.

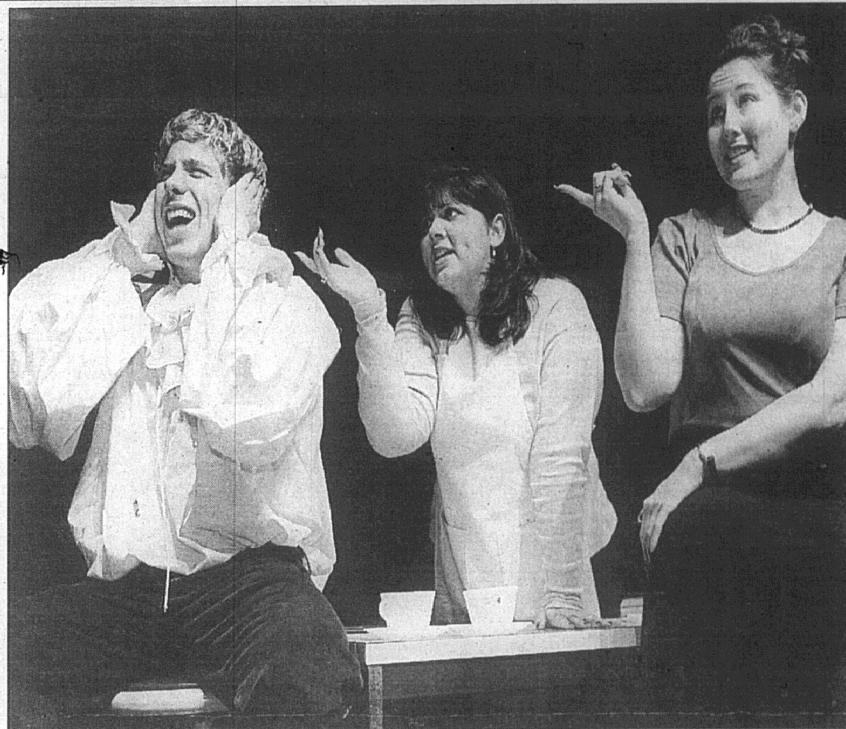

The play — directed by William Grivna, an SIUE professor of theater — tells the story of family and friends in the Little Italy neighborhood of Manhattan's Lower East Side. It centers around the trials and tribulations of a young divorced man who is attempting a reconciliation with his wife.

The play will be presented at 8 p.m. Feb. 19, 20, 26 and 27 and at 2 p.m. Feb. 28 in Katherine Dunham Hall theater.

Tickets are $7; students and seniors $5. For ticket information call the SIUE Fine Arts box office, 650-2774.

Members of the cast of "Italian American Reconciliation" include: Nathan Ruyle playing Huey; Monica Samii portraying Teresa, center; and Eve Zeller as Aunt May.

Mardi Gras getting bigger and bigger

Main parade to take new route this year

By Glen Sparks
Staff writer

The St. Louis Mardi Gras celebration just gets bigger and bigger.

"It's a 20-year overnight success," says Ann Chance, chairwoman of the festivities. "The last four or five years, it's really gotten big."

Maybe a little too big, some residents said after last year's event. Responding to complaints of trash, noise and public drunkenness, Mardi Gras organizers are making some changes for 1999.

For one, the main parade that begins at 11 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 13, will run along Seventh Street from Park Avenue to Sydney Street rather than winding through residential areas in the Souldard area. This parade has attracted up to 500,000 viewers in recent years.

"The street is wide, and it will be easier to marshal and put up barricades and do our cleanups," Chance says. "It will be away from most of the historic residential areas, though, and that will take something away from it.

"The parade is still healthy, though."

It is not, however, for kids. The main parade, one of three at Souldard Mardi Gras, can get a bit risqué, Chance says.

"That parade is adult entertainment," she says. "If you want to pick out a family event, this probably would not be it. Whether it's Souldard, New Orleans or Rio, this is Mardi Gras, after all."

For families that do plan to attend the parade, Chance says a good place to watch the floats is near Lafayette and Seventh streets. That's the PG portion of the parade.

"The people on the floats have been told to behave there, and if they do have an adult-oriented act, to not do it there," Chance says.

Also, new this year will be a family entertainment area on 12th Street between Barton and Victor streets, featuring games, food and other events.

Other Mardi Gras activities include a beer tasting, a wine tasting, a grand ball, the Mystic Krewe of Barkus Parade, the Fat Tuesday evening parade and the wiener dog derby.

'Rushmore' unusual, funny

Quirky film
evokes 'Nerds,'
'Animal House'

MOVIE REVIEW

By Steve Bryan
Correspondent

Mix a healthy dose of "Revenge of the Nerds" with a sprinkling of "Animal House" and the result would look something like the new "Rushmore."

The film, the second for director Wes Anderson ("Bottle Rocket") and the first for actor Jason Schwartzman, is odd, outrageous and quirky, but it has a lot of charm and heart as well.

Schwartzman stars as Max Fischer, an ambitious 10th grade student attending the fictitious Rushmore Academy. Max loves Rushmore so much that he wears his official school blazer everywhere he goes.

Max has so much school spirit that he belongs to just about every organization at Rushmore, as well as founding several others, including the Double-team Dodgeball Society and the Max Fischer Players. Unfortunately, he puts so much time and energy into his extracurricular activities that he neglects his classwork and usually forgets to study for tests and final exams.

When he fails yet another class, the headmaster, Dr. Guggenheim (Brian Cox), has no choice but to put Max on "sudden death academic probation."

Max decides to pursue a relationship with Miss Cross (Olivia Williams), an attractive first-grade teacher.

Max also strikes up an unlikely friendship with Mr. Blume (Bill Murray), a wealthy steel tycoon and a large financial contributor to Rushmore. Blume looks upon Max as the son he never had, even though he already has twin boys.

Max hopes to use Blume's money and influence to win Miss Cross' affections. However, Blume himself is charmed by the young teacher.

Overall, "Rushmore" is an unusual, yet enjoyable comedy, thanks to Schwartzman's standout performance and the excellent support provided by Murray and Mason Gamble as Max's best friend.

The best moments occur when Max stages his original productions about police corruption, inner-city violence and war.

Nicolas Cage stars in thriller

'8MM' comes to theaters Feb. 22

In "8MM," Nicolas Cage plays Tom Welles, a surveillance specialist — formerly known as a private detective — but his version of the profession is hardly the stuff of which legends are made.

However, a chance encounter with an innocuous-looking reel of film turns his life upside down in this new thriller, which opens Feb. 22.

Welles has a modest, home-based practice in Harrisburg, Pa., where he lives an existence remarkable only for its normalcy with wife Amy (Catherine Keener) and their baby daughter, Cindy. Respected but still waiting for a big break that will improve his professional status, Welles spends most of his time on routine cases involving unfaithful spouses and the like. Nothing too dangerous, nor too threatening until a small-looking plastic reel of film arrives.

The reel ultimately leads Welles down an increasingly dark and frightening path, as he follows a bizarre trail of evidence from Harrisburg to Cleveland and North Carolina, and then on to the streets of Hollywood and New York City.

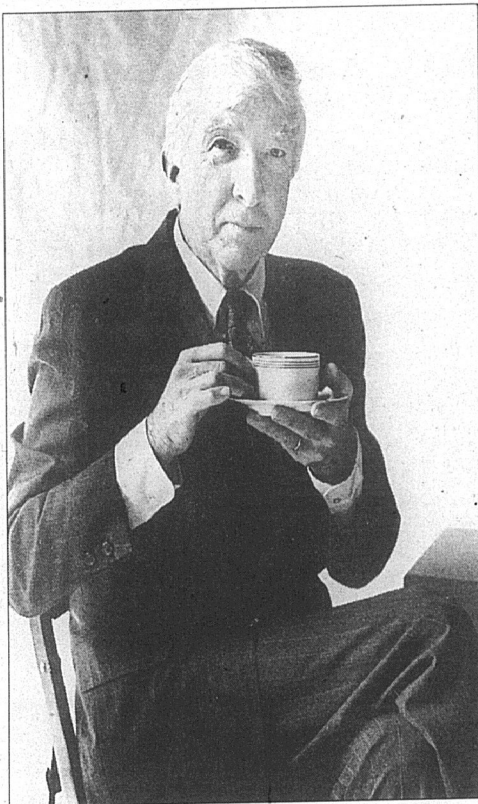

Meticulously assembling the maddening puzzle piece by piece, Welles' only assistance comes from a streetwise adult bookstore clerk, Max (Joaquin Phoenix), who's smart enough to know the milieu he works in without giving in to it.

It's also a road that takes Welles further away from his family, as his work turns into an obsession with the fate of a girl whom, although a complete stranger to Tom, begins to haunt his imagination and conscience.

"8MM" is a dark, haunting movie. But its lively action and suspenseful ending may keep viewers on the edge of their seats at the same time that it evokes dark images.

John Updike

Updike will share readings at SIUE

Appearance set for next Thursday

Pulitzer Prize-winning author John Updike will speak at 7:30 p.m. next Thursday at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville as part of the University's Arts and Issues series. Scheduled to appear in Meridian Ballroom of the Delyte Morris University Center, Updike will share readings and imaginative commentary with the audience.

In addition to his evening appearance, Updike will conduct a Student Leadership Development Program session at 5:30 p.m. that day for SIUE students.

The SLDP program affords students opportunities to learn about civic and leadership skills.

The 66-year-old author has 50 titles in print, from children's books to adult fiction, creating worlds populated by witches, petty tyrants, adulterers and a collection of characters struggling with the American dream.

He has waxed philosophic about golf and art, penned essays and poetry, and piled one magnum opus upon another and another.

Updike's body of work has earned him — in addition to two Pulitzers — the National Book Award, the American Book Award and the National Book Critics Circle Award.

His 1996 novel, "Rabbit At Rest," recently was awarded the Howells Medal by the American Academy of Arts and Letters for the most distinguished work of American fiction of the last five years.

Tickets for the Feb. 11 Arts and Issues event are $6, $3 for students.

Admission includes free parking in the attendant visitors' lot behind the Morris University Center. For ticket information call 650-2320; or write: Arts and Issues, SIUE, Edwardsville, 62026-1083.

'Twelfth Night' on stage this weekend

By Bethany Behrhorst
Staff writer

"Twelfth Night, or What You Will" opens this weekend at the James F. Metcalf Student Experimental Theater at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Performances are scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, as well as 8 p.m. Feb. 12, 13, 19 and 20.

The production is filled with "pining hearts, baffling hopes and foolish drunks," and "belongs to all time," cast member Jeff Skoblow said.

"Twelfth Night" is a Shakespearean comedy of lovers at cross-purposes, including crossed swords, crossed garters and cross-dressing," Skoblow said. The Arts League Players decided to perform "Macbeth" several years ago. Skoblow said the positive feedback from that production led to scheduling of other Shakespearean shows.

"It's a wonderful opportunity to see one of Shakespeare's best comedies," Dudding said. "It should be a lot of fun. It's very funny and very sad."

Orchid display enlivens Garden

By Clayton Berry
Staff writer

Flowers and dinosaurs may seem like an odd pairing, but organizers of the annual orchid show at the Missouri Botanical Garden said they make the perfect combination for families.

The show began Jan. 30 and continues through March 14 in the Orthwein Floral Display Hall in the Ridgway Center. The Garden is located at 4344 Shaw Blvd. and is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

As always, the display features the Garden's stunning array of orchids—one of the largest collections in the nation. What are new this year, though, are the life-like dinosaur sculptures stalking the sweet-smelling garden.

Delle Willett, a Garden spokeswoman, said the exhibit, "Beauty and the Beast," will thrill adults and children alike.

"This is one of the ways to get people interested in plants," Willett said.

At any given time, there are 700 plants inside the display area. More than 40 species of orchids fill the room. Some are as large as six inches in diameter. Others are as tiny as a head of a pin.

With so much flora to survey, the dinosaurs add an element to keep children occupied, said Guy Darrouh, who designed the sculptures. The Arnold resident's creations represent seven species. The sculptured prehistoric creatures first made their way to the Garden last May in the tropical Climatron.

"It's great," Darrouh said of the show. "Dinosaurs and flowers evolved at the same time."

Brian LeDoux, the exhibit's designer, said work on the show began shortly after the Christmas display came down during the first week of January. Volunteers spent hundreds of hours setting up the annual orchid display.

The show is the Garden's most popular event. Last year about 30,000 people attended.

"It happens in the dead of winter when there's not much beauty to be found," LeDoux said. "When you stop in here, you're basically transporting yourself to the tropics."

Some lists memorable, some not

Trivia

Kevin Carbery

By Kevin Carbery
Staff writer

Some lists are easier to remember than others. For instance, almost everyone can recall the Seven Dwarfs. That group consists of Sleepy, Sneezy, Happy, Sneezy, Wasteful, Monty and Doctor J. Well, maybe it's not so easy. There are tricks to memorizing lists, such as using mnemonic devices. The five Great Lakes can be recalled by using the word HOMES, which is an acronym for Huron, Ontario, Michigan, Erie and Superior. A way to remember the planets of our solar system in order from the sun is by using the sentence "My Very Excellent Mother Just Served Us Nine Pizzas." The planet names are Mercury, Venus, Earth, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto.

Of course, if the scientists who want to downgrade Pluto from planet status win out, the phrase will need to be reworked.

Mr. Dawson, my junior high science teacher, taught my class how to recall the colors of the spectrum by drawing the picture of a man and naming him ROY G. BIV, which stands for red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet.

Other lists are more difficult to bring to mind when you need them. Some folks have trouble recalling their lock combinations, which are simply lists of numbers. Many of us forget items on our mental shopping lists. A few people I know lose the ability to list all of their children's names after several beverages.

For this week's trivia quiz, the topic is famous listings.

1. What are the Seven Deadly Sins?
2. What are the names of the Three Wise Men who traveled to the birthplace of Jesus?
3. What are the superhero names of the Fantastic Four of comic book fame?
4. What are the five boroughs of New York City?
5. Clotho, Lachesis and Atropos make up what famous group in Greek mythology?
6. Of the javelin, long jump, triple jump and pole vault, which is not a part of the decathlon?
7. What are the names of the 13 British colonies which became the United States?
8. Which comedian has a routine on what he says are the seven words banned by authorities for public use?
9. Which leaders were called the Big Three of World War II?
10. Who were the actors who made up "The Dirty Dozen"? Take credit if you get at least six of them.

ANSWERS: 1. Pride, envy, avarice, sloth, wrath, gluttony and lust. 2. Kaspar, Melchior and Balthasar. 3. Mr. Fantastic, Human Torch, the Thing and Invisible Girl. 4. Brooklyn, the Bronx, Staten Island, Queens and Manhattan. 5. The Three Fates. 6. Triple jump. 7. Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina and Virginia. 8. George Carlin. 9. Franklin Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Joseph Stalin. 10. Charles Bronson, Jim Brown, Tom Busby, Ben Carruthers, John Cassavetes, Stuart Cooper, Trini Lopez, Colin Maitland, Al Mancini, Telly Savalas, Donald Sutherland and Clint Walker.

HOROSCOPE

THURSDAY, FEB. 4

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

You'll find highly practical solutions to your problems at the bookstore. Rigid rules are bent. Supply a neighbor with the advice he or she asks for regarding a domestic issue.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

No matter how much you plan to say no, a lover melts your resolve. Ask experienced co-workers about their work — perspectives on how to relate will help you advance.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21)

Make plans with motivated people instead of wasting hours with one who always has problems. An invitation to a friend's family function could lead to work.

CANCER (June 22-July 22)

Cash flow is better now than you've created a system that works. The changes you want to make may seem drastic, but once you start, you'll find this is untrue. Be selective about the phone calls you take — your time is valuable.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

You don't need years of training to start in a new field, so if you're not enjoying your work, look elsewhere! Your budget needs a little tightening.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

Romance thrives when you ease off commitment issues. You might hurt the feelings of a lover or friend in an attempt to help his or her health.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

An investment might not be lucrative but will lead to extremely important contacts. Help an estranged friend with a legal problem — a job offer could result.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21)

With enough drive and commitment, you can do just about anything. Identify what really excites you and then, focus every bit of energy on it. Respect and admiration follow your brave challenge of the system at home or at work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21)

A misunderstanding between you and an associate at work is solved when you let your guard down. You may be a liaison.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

With energy and devotion, a romantic problem can be solved. The very act of picturing yourself as an achiever will start the necessary momentum to get there.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)

A wealthy benefactor absorbs costs. A new love interest fits your description, but making an aggressive move could scare this person away.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)

Your attraction to danger and mystery leads you to a new love. Deliver a care package to a friend.

Students have plenty of questions about dinosaurs

By Sanford J. Schmidt

Staff writer

Amid the "oohs" and "aahs," Dan Stone had the young minds at N.O. Nelson School in Edwardsville going at full tilt Tuesday.

Stone, who operates Dino Discovery, stood between two mastodon tusk replicas and asked for questions. About 100 hands belonging to second-graders shot up.

Some of the youngsters knew almost as much as did Stone, who offers a dinosaur display and presentation as a business.

When Stone had trouble recalling the term pterosaur, the students were happy to help him out. (Pterosaurs are flying reptiles of the dinosaur age, but they are not dinosaurs, the children and Stone said.)

"We've been working at

"If they can't read anything else, they can read about dinosaurs."

Jane Bradford
Teacher

this," teacher Jane Bradford said.

Among those working hard on his dinosaur and paleontology lessons was Philip Knapp, who explained that the continents were at one time all one big continent, known as Pangea.

Philip had studied dinosaurs to the point where he was ready to broaden the subject matter. While he knows the difference between compognathus and velociraptor and how to spell both, Philip was attracted to the one mammal in the display.

"I liked the mastodon because it is something unique, not just a dinosaur."

Other youngsters said the presentation was "cool" and "awesome."

"I liked the meteor that hit the Earth because it blew everything to bits," said Ches Karidis, one of Philip's classmates. He was referring to the meteor that is thought to have hit the Earth millions of years ago, creating a cloud that blocked the sun, resulting in mass extinction of dinosaurs.

Stone and his Dino Discovery exhibit spent most of the day at N.O. Nelson so that all the classes could take turns hearing about dinosaurs and other ancient animals. It also gave them the chance to touch some of the replicas and ask questions.

The classes are in the midst of a month-long study of dinosaurs, which schools can integrate into other subjects like reading, writing, math and general science, Bradford said.

Stone, a former teacher from Taylor, Mo., said he got into the business after his brother-in-law happened to find the most complete mastodon skeleton in history. A replica of the mastodon head is the centerpiece of the exhibit, which Stone takes to schools around the Midwest.

From his interest in the mastodon, which was found while digging a pond on a golf course in Ohio, Stone began learning about paleontology and how the study can be used to get young people excited about learning.

Movies like "Jurassic Park" helped spark the interest.

"There is no denying that it did," Stone said.

Bradford said research on computers is one of many areas of study that can be sparked by the study of dinosaurs. Reading is another subject enlivened by ancient animal study, she said.

"If they can't read anything else, they can read about dinosaurs," she said.

Bi-State plans to offer shuttle service for parade

For $3, visitors to the Souldard Mardi Gras Parade on Feb. 13 can avoid a big hassle.

Bi-State shuttles will run from the MetroLink station at the Kiel Center and in Souldard at 13th Street and Russell Boulevard and at Tucker Boulevard and Lafayette Avenue. Shuttles will run from 9 a.m. to midnight.

The parade, which starts at 11 a.m., may draw more than 500,000 people.

If driving into the city from Interstate 64 (Highway 40), exit at 14th Street and park at Kiel or Union Station. From Interstate 70, take Memorial Drive exit to parking and MetroLink to the shuttles.

From Interstate 44 or Interstate 55, get off Downtown or take the riverfront exit. Park in the Arch garage or Riverfront/Laclede's Landing lots. Take MetroLink to Kiel and then to shuttles.

For more information, call Bi-State at 982-1521 in Missouri or 482-8200 in Illinois. The Souldard Information telephone number is 773-6767. Also, check the Souldard Mardi Gras web site at www.souldardmardigras.com.

Parade

Although some of the events might be familiar to Mardi Gras veterans, Chance says each year offers some added twists and surprises.

"We keep a lot of the events year to year, but we also want to keep things fresh," Chance says.

"If we don't change, that means we didn't grow."

Mardi Gras is a great benefit and attention-getter for the Souldard neighborhood, Chance says.

"During Mardi Gras, the eyes of St. Louis turn to Mardi Gras and what happens here," she says.

"People also see that Souldard is an exciting and viable place to live."

Proceeds from Mardi Gras help fund several Souldard projects, including trash pick-up, some sanitation programs and additional neighborhood security, Chance said.

Organizing Mardi Gras is a year-round event. The Souldard event is the largest Mardi Gras celebration in the United States outside New Orleans.

In putting together Mardi Gras, Chance talks to sponsors, police, the excise commissioner and neighborhood groups.

"It's me and it's 100 other people, too," Chance says.

"The street department and other people we contact know what we want for this," she says. "They're used to us."
